Allowable Subject Matter

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The closest compounds in the prior art appear to be the compounds disclosed by Bondilell et al, discussed in the Office Action dated 08/05/09. But Bondilell et al does not disclose the genus where the R₄ substituent of the prior art is carboxylic acid or an alkyl containing O or S or provide any motivation to make those modifications. Where there compounds instantly claimed appear to be free of the prior art, the instantly claimed method of administering the same would likewise be free of the art.
